

UIA Architecture & Children Golden Cubes Awards Regulations

Our children will build the future. It is important to prepare them for this. Making our children aware of the built environment, architecture, urbanism and sustainable development is a top priority. Fostering their knowledge in these fields will ensure their development as responsible citizens, able to make their voices heard and influence the political, economic and social strategies that will shape their cities and their environment.

It is when they are young, open-minded and full of imagination that it is necessary and easy to give them these tools. They will use them later to find the best balance between their dreams, the desire for an ideal living space and an achievable one in the real world.

The UIA Architecture & Children Work Programme Golden Cubes Awards will celebrate those who prepare our children and young people for this task. The Awards will also help to stimulate new projects that share this objective.

Imagining the cities of the future is an urgent and vital challenge. Educating those who will create them is an issue we should address now.

Award Organisers

The UIA Architecture & Children Golden Cubes Awards are being organised by the UIA Architecture & Children Work Programme www.architectureandchildren-uia.com

Award Objectives

To recognize, encourage, and support individuals and organizations that lay the foundations of an architectural culture and help children and young people, from pre-school up to and including the age of 18, to understand architectural design and the processes by which our environment is shaped. This will help them, as adult citizens, to participate effectively in the creation and intelligent use of high quality architecture that is humane, sustainable and respectful of its context.

Award Categories There are 4 Award Categories:

1. School Award

This Award is open to any school providing general education in accordance with the state or national curriculum to children and young people. (Schools providing specialist or vocational education in the fields of art, design, architecture or related fields are not eligible in this category.)

2. Institution Award

This Award is open to Museums, Galleries, Foundations, Associations and other organisations, either singly or in collaboration with others, in any field. (Schools providing specialist or vocational education in the fields of art, design, architecture or related fields may enter in this category).

3. Written Media Award

This Award is open to individuals and organisations working in the field of written media (articles, books, magazines, non audio-visual educational tools)

4. Audio-visual Media Award

This Award is open to individuals and organisations working in the field of audio-visual media (documentaries, films, TV programmes, audio-visual educational tools).

Entrants and National Member Sections should note that a submission for any particular activity or product might be entered for one Award only. However an Entrant producing more than one activity or product may submit separate entries for each of them.

Brief

Entrants are invited to submit entries describing activities (courses, classes, events, etc.) or products (publications, tools, games, kits, guides, films, computer programmes, etc.) designed to teach children and young people about architecture and the built environment.

Entries on more general themes - such as design, sustainability, etc. - that do not focus on architecture or the built environment will not be eligible.

The UIA Architecture & Children Golden Cubes Awards process is not a 'competition' for which Entrants are expected to produce new projects. Instead they are invited to present submissions relating to an activity which is currently active, or to a product produced, or an event which has taken place, at any time between September 2017 and the submission deadline of 15 March 2020.

Award Criteria

The following issues should be considered by the Entrants in preparing their submissions. Not every criterion must be met and it will be for the jury to decide, on the basis of the overall content and quality of an Entry, whether it is to receive an Award.

- Are the educational objectives – what the children will learn and what skills they will acquire - clearly stated?
- Does it increase their understanding of architecture?
- Does it support their understanding of social, economic and ecological sustainability?
- Does it encourage sensitivity, creativity or critical thinking?
- Is it fun?
- Does it have the support of the educational authorities or of the community?
- Does it involve collaboration or interdisciplinary partnerships?
- Can it be implemented on a continuing basis?

Award Process: The Award Process will have two Phases:

A. National Process

Each UIA National Member Section participating in the Award will:

1. Identify and mandate the professional organisation charged with organising the National Nomination process
2. Inform the UIA Architecture & Children Work Programme, in writing, of its participation.
3. Promote and publicise the UIA Architecture & Children Golden Cubes Awards on a national scale (National and Regional government, professional, educational, publishing and media organisations) and issue a wide public call for entries.
4. Appoint a National Jury
5. Select one entry for nomination for each Award (School, Institution, Written Media, Audio-visual Media)
6. Send the nominated entries to the UIA
7. Issue a press release announcing the national nominated entries.

2/6

B. International Process

The UIA Architecture & Children Work Programme will arrange for:

1. Evaluation of all of the national nominated Entries
2. Selection by the International Awards Jury of one Entry for each Award
3. Notification to all National Member Sections of the results
4. Presentation of the UIA Architecture and Children Golden Cubes Awards during the 27th UIA Congress 'UIA 2020 Rio' in July 2020
5. Publication of the results at international level.

3/6

National Member Sections who decide to run a National Nomination Process are requested to notify the UIA Architecture & Children Work Programme at the UIA General Secretariat at the address above, before 1 June 2019. National Member Sections may collaborate with other national organisations in organising a National Nomination Process. Prizes, if any, in the National Nomination processes are at the discretion of each Member Section.

The organisation of the National Nomination Process and all costs related to it are the responsibility of the Member Section, which organises it.

Nominations for the International Process can be made only by the National Member Section on the official UIA Architecture & Children Golden Cubes Awards Nomination Form, which will be available from the UIA BEE Website at www.architectureandchildren-uia.com. A National Member Section may submit only one Nomination for each Award Category.

Participating National Member Sections are urged to publicise the Awards as extensively as possible at national level, so as to support and encourage individuals and organizations providing Architecture and Children activities. Please note that all references to the Awards should use the full title: UIA Architecture & Children Golden Cubes Awards.

Phase B. International Process

The International Awards Jury will be appointed by the UIA Architecture & Children Work Programme and will consist of:

Personality (President of the Jury)
4 UIA Nominated Architects (including Architecture & Children UIA Work Programme members)
An education Specialist
A media Specialist

Decisions of the Jury shall be made by majority vote. The President of the Jury has a casting vote and the decision of the Jury shall be final.

The list of Awards and the Jury's report shall be signed by all members of the Jury before they disperse, and a copy shall be sent to the UIA Secretariat.

Phase A. National Submissions

Each Entrant must submit to the national organizers, the following:

- a. Official UIA Architecture & Children Golden Cubes Awards Entry Form
- b. One copy of a printed A2 poster on white non-glossy paper (rolled), set out in accordance with the Awards Template, and containing
 - Summary information about the Entrant and the project.
 - Written description of the project addressing the Awards criteria. The text must be set within the allocated space and in the font type and size (Arial 14) specified in the Awards format.
 - Illustrations of the project. The type of illustration will depend on the nature of the project and is at the discretion of the Entrant.
- c. 2 copies of a CD or USB containing the A2 poster set out in accordance with the Awards Template (both in high resolution for paper printing in A2 and in low resolution for web publication)
- d. A Sample of the original material materials (book, tool, game, film, disc, activity programme, etc.) in the form and language in which it was produced.

Entrants should list on the Poster the names of any collaborators or consultants whose participation is to be acknowledged in any publication or exhibition.
